

Work that space!

A spacious but dated bathroom is given a spectacular new lease on life.

Before

mahogany cupboards, sleek taps, towel rings and butler's rack enhance the practical, minimal and modern feel. The easy-to-install outdoor shower column and clip-together Rhodesian teak decking squares complete this extreme makeover.

A sickly shade of pistachio never did a bathroom any favours – the '70s have a lot to answer for! This large bathroom felt cluttered, dark and claustrophobic because of its layout, dated features and dizzying tiling. Help was desperately needed.

AFTER

Voila! The perfect, stylish Noughties bathroom. The clever use of Millerighe format tiles (in beige and white) on the walls and floors gives this long room the illusion of width. Repeating Crème Marfil Mosaic tiles on the side of the bath, between the basins and on the partition wall pulls the look together. The curved bath, stylish
